

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTORY

The Standard Cipher Code of The American Railway Association has been compiled for the use of the members of The American Railway Association in their telegraphic communications with each other and for intra-company service.

The phrases have been carefully selected from a very large number submitted by officials of each department and it is believed that they will be found sufficiently comprehensive to cover all the ordinary requirements of railway business.

A number of extra code words will be found under each heading to provide for additional phrases. In order to prevent future confusion in the use of these, it is requested that all suggestions for additions be submitted to the Committee on the Standard Cipher Code of The American Railway Association. When approved, notice of such additions will be sent to all registered users of the Code.

The initial letter of each code word corresponds with the initial letter of the general subject of the message as given in the classified headings.

The index on pages v to xvi has been arranged with cross references for convenience. Familiarity with these pages will materially aid in the ready use of the Code.

Great care should be exercised in writing a cipher message for transmission. Each letter should be written distinctly and the whole message should be carefully revised, and checked back, before delivery to the operator.

INTRODUCTORY

Write plainly; commence each word with a capital letter. Dot the i's; loop the e's; loop and make the l's long; form the a's, n's and u's carefully, so that a's will not be mistaken for n's, o's or u's; e's for i's or l's; l's for t's, etc.

When there are blanks left in a cipher phrase the words necessary to fill the blanks must be placed after the cipher word.

Words in a parenthesis should be used in accordance with the context of the message.

When there is a parenthesis with a blank, when the blank is filled, translate it, but not otherwise.

Words may be added to a cipher phrase to complete the sense when necessary.

The page and the line numbers may be given for reference in case the repetition of code words is requested.

The page and line numbers can also be used in connection with various methods for the further condensation of messages.

The Code is intended as an open one and its object is brevity, not secrecy; but it may be made secret by previous arrangement between correspondents in the ordinary manner.
